students have highly variable levels of English proficiency: if an international student does experience problems, it is most likely to be in the first one to two years of their course, particularly with their written work (Bayley et exams and coursework. Yet writing good academic English is

- one of the most demanding tasks students face. This new edition of Academic Writinghas been fully revised to help students reach this goal. Clearly organised, the course explains the writing process from start to finish.

international students studying in the West are less often considered. The most cursory of examinations reveals that international (i.e. non-domiciled) students are far from a homogenous group (HESA, 2015). And yet in both the academic literature, and in institutional structures, international students are commonly discussed
