What Is the Universal Donor Blood Type? - MSN - A donor's blood type should ideally match the recipient's blood type.
However, in some cases, in which there is no time for testing blood compatibility, a universal blood donor can donate blood to the recipient, especially when blood transfusion needs to be immediately performed.

Notes - A universal blood donor is a person who can safely donate blood to almost anyone.
Historically, it was believed that universal donors, as they are also known, could donate blood safely to any individual. Later, research demonstrated that blood compatibility was actually more complicated and that there are rare situations where someone may experience a transfusion reaction upon being given ...
